Pure sound

We have created a speaker based on the principles used in acoustic instruments, using no electronic filters and using only the world's purest materials, like bamboo.

Our speakers truly sing like birds.

Each product is completely assembled by hand by our dedicated craftsmen in our own workshop in the Netherlands. The high quality of our products is enforced by a 10 year warranty.

Recognised for its truly innovative effects, our technology has been awarded with a successful patent registration. The sound from our patented technique is unique. No other sound from products with conventional technology has the same characteristics as ours.

Truly yours

Our sound is so pure, undistorted and clear, that even people with hearing problems experience our sound clearly and in all its richness. In addition to the characteristics of our sound, people with hearing impairment experience the following effects:

Excellent audibility for the hearing impaired at low volume levels.

Conversation remains possible when listening to music or watching television.

Small in size, amazing in sound

The Kolibrie is the smallest speaker with the Kalkmann Audio technology. Ideal for use in combination with television, hi-fi set and/or home theatre set.

Despite the small size of the Kolibrie, the sound produced is overwhelmingly rich and full. As the sound generated does not decrease in quality as distance to the speaker increases but only slightly in volume, your room will be filled with sound. Available in three colours and with a ten year warranty.

The original

The Nachtegaal is the original version of our invention. The Nachtegaal is the second speaker in our product line and is ideal for use in larger rooms in combination with television, hi-fi set and/or home theatre set.

Despite the relatively small size of the Nachtegaal, the sound generated is overwhelmingly rich and full and effortlessly replaces sound from large hi-fi speakers using conventional technique. As the sound generated does not decrease in quality but only slightly in volume as distance to the speaker increases, your room will be filled with sound. Available in three colours and with ten year warranty.

The new standard for TV loudspeakers

This series of loudspeakers, standard available for 22" to 50" screens, gives you an enhanced sound experience from your TV. Clearly understandable at an incomparably low volume, by everybody. Highly suitable for voice/dialogue, music and film.

This newly designed stereo speaker system is based on our products for the demanding business market. Its volume control (at speaker entry level) allows for easy once-only synchronization with the TV volume control. Once synchronized, the desired volume can be selected using the TV remote control. Available in black, sil
